June 14, 2016

The following was sent to the KYAE listserv.

DON'T FORGET! // Join us tomorrow for #GEDGradDay

PLEASE JOIN KYAE AS WE CELEBRATE NATIONAL #GEDGradDay TOMORROW (6/15)!

We'll be posting "Open the Door" photos (like the ones seen here) on our Facebook and Twitter pages.

How will you be participating?

From: GED Testing Service [mailto:communications@gedtestingservice.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 14, 2016 9:01 AM
To: Brownson, Missy (KYAE)
Subject: Join us tomorrow for #GEDGradDay

Don't forget - #GEDGradDay is tomorrow!

GED Grad Day is a virtual celebration of our GED graduates and all they have accomplished, as well as an opportunity to encourage the next generation of students to open the door to their future. Thanks to your untiring efforts, many students have earned their GED diplomas. We hope you'll join us online to celebrate their successes!

What can you do tomorrow?

1. Post your "Open Door" photo to join the conversation.

- Take a picture of yourself opening a door.
- Publish your photo on Twitter, Instagram or Facebook and use the caption to explain how education opens the door to the future.
- Use the hashtag #GEDGradDay in your post. Every time #GEDGradDay is mentioned on social media networks on June 15, GED Testing Service will donate $1 to the National Center for Families Learning (NCFL), up to a maximum of $10,000.

2. Engage on our GED Testing Service Facebook page on June 15.

- Join our "live" Facebook Q&A session. Participate by asking questions or sharing your advice with future GED students.
- Watch, like and share our GED Grads video which we'll debut on June 15. It celebrates the successes of our graduates and inspires others!

3. Spread the word! Invite your students and graduates to participate in #GEDGradDay to celebrate with us online!

Regards,

The GED Testing Service team